LAURIER IN MONTREAL

OPENING OF CAMPAIGN

The Liberal Leader Makes a Brilliant Speech and is Enthusiastically Received—Policies Compared.

(Bulletin Special Dispatch.)
Ottawa, Feb. 8.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier spoke last night in St. James' hall, Montreal, in favor of the Liberal candidate. The Premier said that if the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway company did not build the transcontinental railway, some one else would. As for tariff revision, the government would see that when it was necessary to make a revision it would be made on the same lines as in 1896. The Liberal tariff is much better than the Tory tariff.

NO HOPE OF PEACE

IN THE FAR EAST

Japan Taking the Initiative on Account of Russia's Insincerity—War is Expected Immediately.
(Bulletin Special Dispatch.)
London, Feb. 8.—Both the Russian and Japanese governments have announced the withdrawal of their ambassadors. Japan precipitated the rupture of diplomatic relations owing to Russia's delays and insincerity. War is considered almost inevitable and may occur today, but the cessation of negotiations does not necessarily mean that the outbreak of hostilities will immediately follow.

CITY OF BALTIMORE IN FLAMES

TERRIBLE CALAMITY BEFALLS ONE OF MARYLAND'S LARGEST CITIES

Fire Started by Explosions and Spread with Great Rapidity—Property Loss will Total Two Hundred Million Dollars—Eight Firemen Killed.

(Bulletin Special Dispatch.)
Baltimore, Maryland, February 8.—Fanned by a high wind that was nearly a gale, a fierce fire that raged all of yesterday and last night, and is still burning, devastated Baltimore. Starting with a series of explosions at eleven o'clock yesterday forenoon, when thousands were attending church, the flames spread rapidly and within three hours swept the entire firehouse district. At three this morning eight firemen had been killed.

The property loss is estimated at two hundred million dollars. Twenty square blocks of buildings in the heart of the city have been destroyed. Scores have been injured. Several hospitals in the heart of Baltimore have been so seriously affected, two being burned. The supply of ambulance wagons have not only been used to transport the fire victims to outlying sanitariums, but were employed in transferring the sick from hospital to hospital. All the telegraph wires are now down.

Every newspaper plant in the city, with the possible exception of the Sun has been destroyed. Several of the largest banks containing funds roughly estimated at one million dollars are in ruins. No one knows if the cash still in red hot vaults is still redeemable or not. The people are in the streets.

The whole city detachments of the fourth and fifth regiments of the Maryland National Guard, have been called out by the governor. They are now patrolling the streets bounding the fire-stricken section. This was rendered necessary by the enormity of the disaster, the suddenness and unexpectedness of the blow.

The police and firemen worked like trojans for twelve hours. Scores had to report back to their superior officers out of sheer weariness and popular clamor for military protection ensued. No lives are reported lost yet.

SEED OATS.

The oat plant is the most hardy of the cereals in the later stages of its growth and ripening. It will stand low temperatures and unfavorable weather conditions which would render wheat and barley in the same stage of ripening useless, without serious injury to the feeding value of the crop. It is for this reason that oats are a staple crop in all northern latitudes. Indeed it is only in a northern latitude that the grain reaches its best value. Heavy frosts are unknown in southern latitudes. But while the oat is the most hardy of the cereals in its ripening stages, it is the most delicate in the early stages of its growth. Wheat, which is the most easily injured at the time of its ripening, is by far the most hardy at its time of sprouting. One degree of frost at a certain stage of the ripening of a wheat crop may lessen its value many thousands of dollars. But in the early stages of its growth it will stand almost anything. For this reason, although it is always better to have the most perfect grain for seed, wheat that has been damaged for market by frost may still be very fair and reliable seed. The reverse is the case with oats. The young oat plant is so delicate that unless the seed is sound and strong, the plant will not grow, or if it grows, it will not thrive, and a sparse crop is the result. A wheat crop which has a bad start may recover itself under favorable conditions of growth, by the process of stooling. But an oat crop grown from weak seed will never be a good crop, and may very well be expected to be a failure. The value of oats for seed cannot be judged by their appearance or weight. The standard weight is heavier in the latitude is more northerly. In the United States 32 pounds is a standard bushel. In western Canada, 34 pounds, but in this district 38 pounds would be as fair a standard as 32 pounds in the United States. New settlers especially are therefore easily deceived as to the seed value of their oats. Because they weigh more per standard bushel than they did at their former homes, they take for granted that they must be equally reliable as seed; but it does not follow. Good weight is no assurance that the oats are good for seed. The only way to be sure on that point is to make a test by planting a counted number of grains in a box of earth in the house, and then count how many plants appear within a certain period, say eight days. It will then be known what proportion of the grains show a strong vitality. The opinion seems to be general amongst the farmers of the district that although the oat crop of last year is quite marketable for feed purposes, a large proportion is of doubtful value as seed. This is a very serious condition of affairs, and if it exists should be adequately met in good time. The oat crop of the district is too important to admit of any chances being taken as to the growing value of the seed crop. So satisfied have the Brackman-Ker company become that there is need of reliable seed oats, that they have brought in two cars of such grain which they are offering for sale. But if there is need of the importation of two cars, there is probably a need for the importation of many more. And the trouble is that as the seedling season approaches and farmers begin to look around for good seed oats, it will be too late to import them in time for seeding, for oats must be sown in good time if they are to mature in good time. They require so long a season of growth as wheat. The difference is that they cannot be sown quite so early because of the greater delicacy of the young plant, and they need not ripen quite so early, because of the harder nature of the maturing plant. Private enterprise is not likely to supply the need until the demand arises, and then it will be too late for private enterprise to meet the need if it exists as largely as many farmers seem to think. It has been suggested that the Dominion Department of Agriculture might take up the matter. With the facilities at its command it could procure any desired quantity of reliable seed and dispose of it at cost price. But the department cannot take up the matter on its own account. There must be some concerted action on the part of the farmers who need seed oats, to place their requirements in definite and business-like form before a department of the government would be justified in taking action. If anything is to be done in this line it should be done at once. Governmental machinery is cumbersome, and it will take a good while for the people to get together and make up their minds as to whether they want action taken or not. If anything is to be done on this question of seed oats for next spring, the time to do it is now. A month from now will be too late.

WINNIPEG MARKETS

Commercial, January 30th.
Wheat—Manitoba wheat has been dull and steady. Owing to excessively cold weather the movement on railways has almost ceased; on Tuesday only two cars were inspected at Winnipeg, compared to 319 cars on the same day a year ago. Prices on the week are 1¢ lower and at the close of business today we quote 1 northern 83¢; 2 northern, 80¢; 3 northern, 76¢; No. 4 wheat, 67¢; feed, 47¢; No. 2 feed, 37¢, immediate delivery. For February delivery prices are 1-4¢ to 1-2¢ over immediate delivery and for May delivery, No. 1 northern, 87¢; 2 northern, 84¢; 3 northern, 80¢, all in store, Fort William or Port Arthur. Barley—The market has advanced 1¢ per bushel. Trade is very light. Malt grades are bringing 38 to 37¢ per bushel in carlots on track here, and feed grades 34 to 35¢. Farmers are getting about 28¢ at country points. Oats—Trade is quiet owing to cold weather. Dealers say that even regular customers are buying light. No. 2 white oats, 1-2¢ to 1¢ higher at 31-42¢ to 32¢ for carlots on track and feed grades, 30¢ to 30 1-2¢. Farmers' loads at country points bring 24¢ to 25¢ and on the street here 30¢ per bushel.

CURLING

A writer in a recent issue of the Mail-Empire refers to the project to hold a great bonspiel in Toronto. He says:

"Last winter a movement was on foot to hold a great bonspiel in Toronto. There was only one reason why the affair might not be a success, and this was the shameful fact that no one could confidently assert that this city from November to March, would have a whole week of curling weather. And let it be remembered that curling weather is not necessarily winter weather. A degree or two of frost will make ice fit for the 'roarin' game'. Times have changed, surely, since the Earl of Eglinton enjoyed six successive months of curling in this country.

"Undoubtedly a great bonspiel would be a very welcome addition to our winter attractions, but even without a national tournament, local curlers have many opportunities of testing their metal. For several weeks past games have been played almost daily and speculation on the outcome of some of the important contests to be decided in this city in the near future is becoming more interesting every day. These matches may not have the sentimental and historical importance of the great Scottish matches, but in point of the skill displayed they are no whit behind the more famous encounters on St. Mary's loch, at Linlithgow, or Ardoch loch, near Dunblane. The noted Scottish curlers who visited Canada last year and were defeated more often than they defeated their opponents, should bear witness to this fact should such evidence be necessary.

Indeed, it may be doubted if there are more expert curlers in the world than are to be found here. This might well be expected, since the game is a hundred years old in the Dominion. A quarter of a century ago an authority said that he had seen better curling in Toronto than ever he had before witnessed.

"It is not surprising that such a fine game should have transplanted and thrived as well on the St. Lawrence as on the Ayreshire lochs. Had it not been for their favor to sport which they brought with them, many thousands of Scotchmen, who came to Canada before there was much social life in the country, would have put in some dreary winter. Curling possesses advantages possessed by no other game, and a vast amount of literature setting forth and establishing this point is to be found by the diligent student. Without scanning this evidence, we may see the justice of the claim by reviewing a few of the peculiar features of the game. In the first place, it must be played at that time of year when so many sports are impracticable. In the second place, it is preeminently a social pastime, for at least eight players can take part in it simultaneously. In the case of a bonspiel, hundreds may be engaged at one time. That it is a healthy exercise cannot be gainsaid, and furthermore, that it is a game where the utmost skill may be displayed is readily admitted. Finally no one who ever saw a close game can doubt that it is intensely exciting. And now says the enthusiast, did you ever hear of a keen curler who was not a good citizen and a fine fellow?"

A MODEL SPORT

The Chicago Tribune's sporting man comments as follows:

"The tenth annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association, which was held last week in Minneapolis, brought the knights of the broom into the limelight for a short space. Their reign lasts as long as the ice, and in this section the season is found to be all too short for the enthusiastic curler. While brief the season is a merry one, and it is doubtful if there is any sport which is played in a more friendly spirit or that bears in a larger degree the true stamp of amateurism. Golfers are prone to boast of the amateur spirit of their sport, but many matches are played by amateurs with a little financial consideration on the side, and questions are being frequently raised as to the amateur standing of leading players. Billiards is termed a gentleman's game, but is not always played in a gentlemanly spirit, while the truest of the bowlers are constantly being signed, and even cricketers and tennis are not without flaws. It is not necessary to emphasize the kindly spirit that permeates baseball, football, ice hockey, roller polo, basketball, and various other branches of sport. They all have troubles of their own. The motto of the curlers is, 'We're brithers!' and they seem to live up to it with wonderful fidelity. Playing hard for prizes of little intrinsic value they battle from year to year with hardly so much as a harsh word. There are no professionals, and not one player in a hundred ever plays for a dollar. It is a model sport, and one that the devotees of many other branches might take as an example. Quarrels among the curlers are as rare as the proverbial dead donkey.

Ask for the Golden Ring
